1986: National Childhood Vaccine Injury Act shields all vaccine manufacturers, health care professionals, and practices from liability resulting from vaccine injury or death.

2011: Bruesewitz v. Wyeth
U.S. Supreme Court rules that vaccines are unavoidably unsafe, and that manufacturers may not be sued for design defect.

* GARDASIL: 3 doses required if given at age 15 or later

 Meningitis B vaccines "may be given at clinical discretion"
